We are excited to have the following presenters at this year’s conference:

Kim T. Mueser, Ph.D
Boston University
mueser@bu.edu

Kim T. Mueser, Ph.D. is a clinical psychologist, Executive Director of the Center for Psychiatric Rehabilitation, and Professor in the Departments of Occupational Therapy, Psychology, and Psychiatry at Boston University. Dr. Mueser’s clinical and research interests focus on the development, evaluation, and implementation of psychosocial interventions for persons with a serious mental illness. His work has addressed a range of different problem areas and treatment approaches in this population, including cognitive behavioral therapy for posttraumatic stress disorder (PTSD), integrated treatment of co-occurring psychiatric and substance use disorders, training in illness self-management, family psychoeducation, social skills training, cognitive remediation, and treatment of first episode psychosis. His research has been supported by the National Institute of Mental Health, the National Institute on Drug Abuse, the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Administration, and the Brain and Behavior Research Foundation. He is the co-author of over 15 books and treatment manuals, and has published extensively, including numerous peer reviewed journal articles and book chapters.
Phil Shapiro, MD
Central City Concern
pjlpw@comcast.net

Dr. Phil Shapiro is a psychiatrist and devotee of yoga-meditation with an interest in the magnificent intelligent healing power as an antidote to the brutal realities of life. He has had a 45-year career as a clinician, teacher, and administrator in public psychiatry. Work has taken him from the inner city to the Alaska bush, from holistic to addiction medicine, and from the boardroom to the streets. In 1974, he worked in one of the first interdisciplinary holistic clinics in New York City. In 1983, he became the Director of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities for the State of Alaska. Following that, he was the Chief Medical Officer at Oregon State Hospital and then Clinical Director of Forensic Psychiatry at Western State Hospital. He has been a surveyor, reviewing quality of care in hospitals and clinics throughout the country. For the past 23 years, he has worked in community mental health centers.

Dr. Shapiro received his medical degree in 1969 from the University of Illinois Medical School, where he was a member of the medical honorary society, Alpha Omega Alpha. He trained in psychiatry at Albert Einstein College of Medicine, Downstate and Kings County Hospital in New York City and received a master’s degree in public health from Columbia University. Dr. Shapiro has been on the faculty of the Department of Psychiatry at Columbia University and is currently an Associate Clinical Professor in the Department of Psychiatry at Oregon Health and Sciences University. While he has studied the nature of disease and healing with many of the masters of psychiatry, psychology, and spirituality, his greatest teachers have been his patients who carry the devastating aspects of life: racism, poverty, mental and physical illness, homelessness, child sex abuse, rape, domestic violence, and addiction. These courageous people and the mean streets they walk continue to be his teachers of the brutal realities of life.

Dr. Shapiro lives in Portland, Oregon happily married to Sharon Whitney, author and playwright. They have two sons and five grandchildren. He works for Central City Concern where his understanding of suffering and the magnificence of the healing power continue to evolve.

Stand Up for Mental Health

Mental health consumers turn their problems into stand up comedy, then perform their acts at conferences, treatment centers, psych wards, for various mental health organizations, corporations, government agencies, on college and university campuses, and most importantly for the general public. “We use comedy to give mental health consumers a powerful voice and help reduce the stigma and discrimination around mental illness,” says founder David Granirer. “The idea is that laughing at our setbacks raises us above them. It makes people go from despair to hope, and hope is crucial to anyone struggling with adversity. Studies prove that hopeful people are more resilient and also tend to live longer, healthier lives.”
